St. Louis lands Alaska Airlines service to Seattle

(St. Louis) Alaska Airlines announced it will launch new service from Lambert-St. Louis International Airport with a daily round-trip between St. Louis and Seattle beginning September 27, 2010. Alaska Airlines will become the 14th commercial carrier to provide service at Lambert.

“We’ve been targeting Alaska Airlines for several weeks now because of upcoming service changes that would have created a void in direct non-stop service from St. Louis to the Northwest this fall,” said Director Rhonda Hamm-Niebruegge. “We think it’s a great fit because Seattle is the second largest west coast market for St. Louis area travelers. It also gives Alaska Airlines a strong route into the heart of the Midwest.”

Seattle-based Alaska Airlines and its sister carrier, Horizon Air, have an extensive network of more than 90 cities with a heavy presence along the west coast and Hawaii. Alaska Airlines will operate the flights with Boeing aircraft. The flight will depart from Seattle at 11:10 a.m. and arrives in St. Louis at 5:10 p.m. The return flight to Seattle will be scheduled to depart St. Louis at 6:05 p.m. with an 8:30 p.m. arrival.
