

Photo of the Week

Lambert-St. Louis International Airport®

Feb.26, 2010

“Signals Up”

A newly poured foundation is ready for the installation of a new traffic signal pole at a major intersection along Lambert International Boulevard.

After a flight, passengers want to get to their home or hotel quickly. Lambert is in the process to make it easier with a major upgrade to its traffic management system along Lambert International Boulevard. Electric crews are installing automated traffic flow systems that trigger signal changes based on traffic volume. Several signal lights masts are also being relocated to improve visibility. The signal lights themselves will be upgraded with LED's for energy efficiency and longer life. The project should be completed by May.

®

©2010 Lambert-St. Louis International Airport · Public Information Office