

Photo of the Week

Lambert-St. Louis International Airport®
March 12, 2010

“Presidential Approach”

The Presidential Motorcade awaits the arrival of Air Force One at Lambert.

President Obama returned to St. Louis this week for the second time while in office to push health care legislation and to headline a local fundraiser. The visit requires extensive planning and coordination for the arrival of the President and Air Force One. The Boeing 747-200B aircraft is literally a flying fortress that measures nearly a block long and six stories high. The President’s trip to St. Louis clocked in at five hours.

®

©2010 Lambert-St. Louis International Airport · Public Information Office