

Photo of the Week

Lambert-St. Louis International Airport®
July 9, 2010

“Pink and Green”

Sisters of Alpha Kappa Alpha pose for a picture outside Terminal 2. The AKA convention begins this weekend.

Friday marked day one for the arrival of thousands of passengers sporting pink and green. These are the ladies of Alpha Kappa Alpha. The sorority is holding its biannual convention in St. Louis through July 16. More than 10,000 members are expected to attend a week’s worth of events in downtown St. Louis to celebrate the organization’s second century of service and sisterhood. To honor AKA’s visit, Lambert has activated the Terminal 1 skylights to display a new pink and green light show for the entire week of the convention.

®

©2010 Lambert-St. Louis International Airport · Public Information Office